FUNCTIONAL FABRIC FAIR
POWERED BY PERFORMANCEDAYS

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Registration Opens for Functional Fabric Fair Winter Edition in Orlando
Co-located with the golf industry's PGA Show, January 27–29, 2027

NORWALK, CT (November 5, 2026) – Registration is now open for the winter edition of Functional Fabric Fair powered by PERFORMANCE DAYS®, taking place January 27–29, 2027, in the Tangerine Ballroom at the Orange County Convention Center (OCCC) in Orlando, FL. Expanded from two days to three, the fair will once again run alongside the full PGA Show schedule. The PGA Show is the largest annual gathering of the global golf industry, organized by PGA Golf Exhibitions (part of RX) and the PGA of America.

Registration for Functional Fabric Fair Winter in Orlando is open only to verified industry professionals, and separate from PGA Show registration. Both events run on the same dates and times at the OCCC, with Functional Fabric Fair in the Tangerine Ballroom, adjacent to and accessible from West Halls E and F.

The Winter edition will feature more than 100 curated exhibitors presenting the latest high-performance textiles and materials, along with Expert Talks and the Trend Forum spotlighting sustainability and innovation. The fair serves as a sourcing event for brands, designers, product developers and sourcing agents in the golf, racquet, outdoor and activewear markets.

Functional Fabric Fair is North America's premier trade-only sourcing event for high-performance textiles with a focus on sustainability. Building on established editions in Portland (spring and fall) and New York City (summer), the Orlando winter edition brings innovative fabrics and technologies to a wider audience in the golf, outdoor sports and activewear sectors, connecting vetted suppliers with brands committed to sustainable and responsible sourcing.

"Golf apparel is one of the most active categories for performance fabric innovation, and brands want suppliers who deliver on function, durability and sustainability," said Steve McCullough, Event Vice President, Functional Fabric Fair. "Placing the fair alongside the PGA Show puts those suppliers in the same building as the designers and product developers who need them, during a week when the whole golf industry is in Orlando."
